Independent of Monopolies at Last.

The American Cotton Seed Company is prepared to furnish to ginners the Crawford Cotton Seed Cleaner. This machine removes all fiber from the seed without damage to the hull, leaving it as clean as corn or other grain, and in condition for export. After the fiber has been removed, cotton seed can be as safely exported as wheat or corn. There is almost an unlimited demand abroad for cleaned cotton seed. One ton of seed will produce 200 pounds of short cotton worth 2 cis. per pound, and 1,720 pounds of clean seed worth $1 per 100, at Norfolk, Va., Wilmington, N. C., Charleston, S. C., Savannah, Ga., Mobile, Ala., New Orleans, La., and Galveston, Tex. The machines are manufactured by the Carver Gin Company, of East Bridgewater, Mass., and the reputation of this well known firm is sufficient guarantee of their superior construction. They are simple, durable and inexpensive. Planters and ginners will find it to their advantage to hold their cotton seed until they can investigate this matter. For full particulars address
